Prof. Record: Starting with early stage ambitions at the Berkley Inst. (Brooklyn), Miss Gahagan was first cast in Manhattan (1922), by John Cromwell; then Dreams For Sale for William Brady. This was the beginning of a stage career as a star which took her into such plays as Fashions For Men, Chains, Leah Kleshna, Beyond, Enchanted April, Young Woodley, Trelawny of the Wells. Notwithstanding her tremendous success on the stage, Miss Gahagan trained for opera and concert; her auditions were so successful a European tour was booked which took her to England, France, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Holland, and Italy. Upon her return to the U.S. in 1931, she was immediately signed by David Belasco for the lead in Tonight or Never. While the stage consumed most of her time Miss Gahagan still found time to appear, with great success, in concert and opera in Dallas, San Francisco, Cleveland, Springfield, Dayton and the Hollywood Bowl. A tour with The Cat and the Fiddle was followed by such stage successes as Moor Born, Mother Lode and Mary of Scotland. Motion pictures eventually persuaded her to do She (RKO), 1935. During recent years Miss Gahagan has become a dominant figure in California Democratic and Civic work being Calif. Power Co.; Elbert is Adjustment Mgr. of Retail Credit Assn.; Ernest is Lieut. in U.S. Navy and now at Harvard U.; Laurence is an Insurance Agent and Deputy Postmaster, and Lloyd, a U.C. grad., is entering Harvard.

Bus. Record: Followed mining on the East Belt of Mother Lode for seven years as an underground workman, then a millhand for two years with lumber company; started a dairy in 1907, and operated it successfully for many years. In 1922, became a Supervisor representing the Third Dist. of Tuolumne Co., in which two of the biggest lumber companies in the State are located. The sudden closing of these mills in 1930 threw almost 2000 men out of employment for over five years, and the problem of caring for these unfortunate people became the peculiar and distressing problem of the Supervisor of the Third Dist. Many people are kind enough to say it was done quite efficiently, but stubborn determination not to quit when the going was hard probably had a lot to do with the results. Pessimists said grass would grow in the streets of Tuolumne, so the Supervisor paved them so grass couldn't get through, replaced wooden sidewalks with concrete and built public bldgs. including a beautiful Memorial Hall, and nobody starved!

LANYI, Dezso

Sculptor-Caricaturist.

Born: Baan (upper part of Hungary), Jan. 23, 1879; s. of Hermin (Ehrenfeld) and Jacob Lanyi.

Education: Budapest, Vienna, Rome, Paris, Brussels.

Married: Anna, d. of Joseph Herz, in Budapest (Hungary), March 30, 1906; ch.: Mrs. Georgianna Dietl, Lilli.

Prof. Record: Decorative work for Vajda-Hunyad castle, 1896; facade modeler in Rome; in 1902 started attracting attention with portrait caricatures; originator of the colored plastic caricatures and won wide acclaim in all big cities of Europe; in 1903 was co-worker on the Hungarian Caricature Magazine; works in marble and bronze purchased by the museums of Beaux Arts, War History and the Parliament in Budapest; huge marble fountain Playing Amors erected in Capitol; marble Leda at the Szechenyi Bath; Mother and Child at St. Gellert Bath, and countless others standing in all parts of the country. His bronze of the Prince of Wales, his portrayal of King George made for the coronation, his outstanding children's portraits—his acclaimed perfection of animals—all are to his credit. Pre-eminent among caricaturists, there is hardly an important figure in European political life whom he has not caricuatured; as a result of this extraordinary ability, in 1936, the Esquire and Coronet Magazines brought him out to America. After six months, they sent him out to Calif. for a vacation, where he has been ever since, turning to that which is typical subject matter here—the modeling of writers and artists, outstanding of which are his works of Rupert Hughes, Dr. Paul De Kruiff, Irving Cobb, Stowkowski, Greer Garson, Jean Arthur, Grover Jones, Katherine Hepburn, Claudette Colbert, Adolph Menjou, Louis B. Mayer, Adolph Zukor, George Zukor, Cary Grant, and Vicki Baum. A tireless worker, along with his portrayals of real characters, he is constantly doing sculptured caricatures commercially. Pres., All Sculptors' Assoc. in Hungary; Pres., Sculptors' Commercial and Artistic Assoc. in Hungary.

MENUHIN, Yehudi

Violinist-Musician.

Born: New York City, April 22, 1916; s. of Martha and Moshe Menuhin.

Education: Private instruction in San Francisco, Paris (France) and Basel (Switzerland). Studied music under: Sigmund Anker and Louis Persinger (San Francisco); Georges Enesco, Paris (France) and Sinaia (Rumania); Adolph Busch, Basel (Switzerland).

Married: Nola Ruby, d. of George Nicholas, Melbourne (Australia); ch.: Zamira, Krov.

Prof. Record: Began playing the violin at the age of 4; at 7 appeared as Soloist with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra under Alfred Hertz; New York debut at age of 9 in recital at Manhattan Opera House, and in Carnegie Hall debut as a child of 11 playing the Beethoven Concerto with the N. Y. Symphony Orchestra under Fritz Busch. Made Paris debut in 1927 with the Lamoureux Symphony, Paul Paray, conducting. Made Berlin debut in 1929 when he played in one concert the 3 "B" famous concertos—Bach, Beethoven and Brahms—accompanied by the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra under Bruno Walter; London debut later same year with orchestra in Queens Hall with Fritz Busch conducting and in recital in Royal Albert Hall; completed first round-the-world concert tour in 1935, appearing in 63 cities in 110 engagements; retired for 2 yrs. on ranch in Calif., returning to the concert stage in Sept., 1937 and has engaged in extensive concertizing since that time. Due to his scholarly and original research work, many rare and important works of classical and modern masters were restored or saved from perdition through stubborn playing and popularization in concert and on gramophone records—among them the famous "Lost" Schumann Concerto. In summer of 1940, while on trip to Australia, Yehudi Menuhin, with the aid of his sister Hephzibah, raised $50,000 for victims of war and persecution; last year, in London, at Royal Albert Hall, gave a concert which raised the sum of $35,000 for Jewish victims of war; last December in Carnegie Hall, New York, played to a capacity house, the concert netting nearly $30,000. Next April, Menuhin will make his first concert tour to South America, to be presented as the unofficial "Ambassador of Good Will" from the U.S.A.
